Dear Dr. Hutapea,

Thank you for your email.

Yes, include the reporting guideline checklist to the next page of the cover letter. Hope this clarifies.

Please let me know if you have any further questions.

Dear Collegian Editor,

I am sorry for the inconvenience caused to you by my incomplete submission. I have tried to provide all of the information required in the online submission process. However, apparently I have missed one important point. Please help me with this question:

My study is a qualitative study. By this sentence, "Please include a complete reporting guideline checklist relevant to your research design, as an addendum to your cover letter" do you mean the "consolidated criteria for reporting qualitative studies (COREQ): 32-item checklist" to my cover letter? If yes, do I put it as the next page(s) of the cover letter or do I send it separately? Please advise. Thank you very much for your kind assistance.

Yours sincerely,

Lyna M. N. Hutapea

I just found that the word count in my manuscript is a little over 5000 words (5164 words). Is this acceptable? I forgot to recount the words after doing a little editing before submitting it again just a while ago and have approved the submission. Do I have to reduce the number of words now and resubmit it again? Please advise. Thank you.

Peer Review comments:

Reviewer #1: Summary: This is a very timely article. There are few articles regarding preparation and perceptions of the Indonesian National Nursing Competency Exam. The authors provide a brief review and history of the exam and describe eight themes that they and other nurse educators could use to develop a preparation program for Indonesian nurse graduates. In Indonesia, there is a critical need for this information and the development of effective preparation programs.

There are a few areas that need to be revised to enhance the article:

- * When giving the abbreviation in parentheses, the word "hereafter" is not needed, i.e. "...success in US nursing license examination (NCLEX) include.....". Please remove throughout the document.
- * References: Please review the list and make sure follows APA format. Please add the doi. There are two references that are very old, please see if more updated references.
- * In the abstract, the aim is "To describe components and implementation of an effective preparation..". However, there is no description of implementation in the article. It is also different than the study aim that is stated at the end of the introduction. Please clarify.
- * There is no discussion section in the abstract. The concluding statement is not clear about whether an effective preparation program was actually carried out by the educators or not. Please clarify.
- * Describe briefly how reflexivity and self-awareness (data collection section), triangulation (data analysis), and trustworthiness (limitation section) were maintained, rather than just mentioning the concepts.
- * The paragraph regarding manifest analysis and coding of the data is unclear.
- * Under findings, the course coordinators and clinical instructors have working experience that is less than 10 years. However, the inclusion criteria is that they worked for a minimum of 10 years for the faculty of nursing. Please clarify.
- * Figure 1 is a nice visual of the themes. It could be clearer if it is specified that the integrated program occurs during both the academic and the internship program and the intensive program is after completion of the internship program.

- There is no discussion section in the abstract. The concluding statement is not clear about whether an effective preparation program was actually carried out by the educators or not. Please clarify.

- Please use either the English name of Association of Indonesian Nurses Education Center (AINEC) or write out the Indonesian name of AIPNI.
- In section 3.1.2, it is unclear what is the exit examination. Please describe.
- In section 3.2.2, the readers will not know what are the "nine clinical subject divisions". Reword the sentence to emphasize the need for a preceptor that has the clinical skill for a specific clinical subject.
- In the discussion section, it is unclear what is meant by "high weight".
- The conclusion and recommendation section is difficult to understand. Rewrite without using a long run-on sentence. Please be more precise in the recommendation for nursing and for future research. How will you use this information in your own institution?

Thank you again for this timely article. Am looking forward to the revisions and this article being in print.

Reviewer #2: Thank you for submitting your study and thank you for giving an opportunity to review your manuscript. Your focus, "Effective Preparation Program for the Indonesian National Nursing Licensure Examination" is important issue in improving the quality of nursing workforce.

However, this manuscript still need modification, so I hope you will consider comments bellow which I mentioned.

Introduction

The background of this study was unclear. Was there any problem on NNCE? Any data supporting your study? Why there is a need of effective preparation program? Any data of pass and fail rate? Ahead of this, I wonder did you notice any urgency to scrutiny this phenomenon? if it so, I think you should mention its reason in this section. And, why did you focused on the preparation rather than any stages on the NNCE?

I recommend you to give readers clear explanation on how many nursing institution based on the ownership and how many pass rate from the type of ownership over Indonesia.

Page 2 Line 42-47: I think you should maintain your objectivity as a researcher, before talking specific on the absence of preparation program policy you should address that the Indonesia government do has policy on NNCE.

Page 2 Line 51: Give us the data please!

Methods

Page 3 line 13: On this section you don't mention any design and setting of your study. It is unclear when you are talking about in-dept interview followed by thematic content analysis. It seems the authors need to clarify which one is design and which one is belong to data analysis.

Page 4 line 1-20: How were participants selected? e.g. purposive, convenience, consecutive, snowball. How were participants approached? e.g. face-to-face, telephone, mail, email. Why researcher only selected participants from private university?

Page 4 line 22-29: after approached 37 candidates, how many participants were in the study? How many people refused to participate or dropped out? Reasons?

Page 6 line 2: You mentioned about the tracking system, did you use a software?

It was important that respondents provided feedback on the analyzed data. What was the question posed to respondents about the analyzed data and how did their answers influence the analysis?

Findings

I would expect to see the perception of each participants in details on how improving the preparation program on NNCE, was there any concrete opinion of participant? For example "An effective preparation program is a program that is integrated early into the academic and practicum programs, including the selection process during the admission." (CC6), but how to do it? How do they define early integration?

Page 6 line 54-58 and next page: the description is not consistent with Table 2.

Page 7 line 22: The authors have found institution level as one of the themes, but I am wondering why they did not interview the representative of institution or management level, any reason for this?

Discussion

On the discussion, I think the authors should fairly mention that AIPNI and each institution also encourage early preparation programs for example, try out as one of the initial programs. I don't see any objective data on the current discussion regarding what is going on in the preparation phase.

Dear Dr. Jason,

Thank you for your email. I shall be working on the revision and resubmit the revised manuscript as soon as possible. What is your opinion of submitting two related (sequential) papers to one journal? For example, this paper is on the components of an effective preparation program for the nursing licensure in Indonesia, and the second one is on the development and evaluation of the effectiveness of the model? Thank you.

Dear Lyna,

thanks for your email. Of course, Collegian would welcome a second submission if you feel it fits with the aims and scope of the journal; however, I cannot speak to its suitability or potential for external review/acceptance.

It is difficult to provide an answer to your question, because it really depends. Because I am not familiar with your studies, the only suggestion I can offer is to consult with your colleagues (coauthors) and take advice from them on this issue.

Best wishes,
Jason

My only concern if submitting our second paper to Collegian is its number of words which is a little over 6000 word exceeding the 5000 words limit that you have. Are you very strict about this limit?

Yes, I'm afraid the author submission requirements are quite clear in stating that maximum of 5,000 words - and this is somewhat generous, as many journals allow only 3,000 words.

In any case, it would seem clear that you are best advised to submit to a different journal that can accommodate the length of your manuscript.

Best wishes,
Jason

Dear Dr. Jason,

I am ready to resubmit my revised manuscript. Do I need an additional mail to show the revisions that I have made? There is one comment that I have difficulty to understand, a comment made by reviewer #2: "I don't see any objective data on the current discussion regarding what is going on in the preparation phase." Is the preparation phase referred to as the preparation of the study or the preparation phase of the preparation program? Please advise. Thank you.

Best regards,

Dear Lyna,

I'm glad to hear you are nearly ready to resubmit. You don't need to send any further email - but yes, the journal requires that you submit, along with your revised manuscript, a separate 'Detailed Response to Reviewers'.

You can find out more information about this via the following link (under the heading: Detailed Response to Reviewers):

<https://www.collegianjournal.com/content/authorinfo>

Information for Authors: Collegian

Aims and scope Collegian: The Australian Journal of Nursing Practice, Scholarship and Research is a refereed journal with an Editorial Board that meets high standards of academic and clinical expertise. www.collegianjournal.com

Regarding the comment you have queried from reviewer 2, I suspect that this sentence is in relation to the sentence immediately prior to it - "On the discussion, I think the authors should fairly mention that AIPNI and each institution also encourage early preparation programs for example, try out as one of the initial programs." It sounds to me that if you address this comment, then it should also address the following sentence which you have asked about it.

I hope this helps to clarify.

With best wishes,

Comments from the Editors and Reviewers:

Reviewer #1: The authors of "Perceptions of Nursing Educators and Alumni of an Effective Preparation Program for the Indonesian National Nursing Licensure Examination" worked hard to update the article, based on the comments of the reviewers. It is interesting that they uploaded two versions of the article, one highlighted yellow for reviewer 1 and one highlighted blue for reviewer 2. It would have been helpful to review all of the changes in one color in one document. The updated article does incorporate the suggestions of both reviewers, though there are still a few English grammar issues, including inconsistent capitalization following APA style in the reference list. Figure 1 is improved and easier to understand. Their detailed response in their letter for each of the comments was informative and they addressed each area of concern. The rewritten conclusion and recommendation section is easier to understand and includes how the authors intend to use the information in their own institution.

Reviewer #2: Thank you very much for giving me a second chance to review this manuscript, I have seen a lot of improvement in this manuscript. However, I think authors have failed to give necessary details for readers to fully understand the study.

Introduction

Introduction is not convincing by giving superficial data regarding the passing rate, the authors only cited the passed rate of national data in 2016 and the last batch pass rate on the study site was only 37% (Was it in 2018? Or during 2013-2018?). The data comparison is unequal and insufficient to convince the readers.

Discussion

This part lacks of researcher opinion regarding the facts and the references of each theme, e.g. paragraph 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Dear Jason,

I already submitted the revised manuscript through the system last Jan 13. Do you have an estimate about how long the review process will take till a decision is made? I look forward to hearing from you. I need that decision at the earliest possible time because I have a deadline to meet for my graduation. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Lyna

Dear Lyna,

thanks for your email and for submitting your revised paper. I can advise that we are awaiting one reviewer report which is due within the next week.

Regarding your stated need for a decision to meet a deadline for graduation, please note that whilst we always aim for the most timely reviews possible, the journal cannot offer any guarantees in relation to a specific timeframe, as journals rely on external reviewers whose timeframes and commitments often vary.

Rest assured, an editorial decision will certainly be made as soon as possible, according to due process - once peer review has been completed.

Kind regards,
Jason
